ANIMAL MAGNETISM.—In a small town Down East, there lived a butcher, who was a jack-at-all-trades, and more particularly noted for his experiments in Animal Magnetism. A half witted fellow, who was entirely upon the charity of the town, imagining one day that he was quite ill, made application to the butcher for a remedy to relieve him from the pains in his stomach.—The thought flashed upon the mind of the butcher that he was a fit subject for experiment, and accordingly he mesmerized him into a profound sleep.

He then made an incision into his stomach and took out his inards to wash them, after which he laid them down, and went into the house to get a needle and thread to sew up the incision.

But on returning, to his astonishment he beheld an old sow just leaving the place, having eaten them. In this dilemma, he seized a sheep and removed its entrils to the body of the man; then closing up the orifice he awakened the slumbering subject, who was forth discharged cured.

Meeting the individual some days after, the butcher, having some curiosity as to the success of the operation, asked the chap how he got along.

"Oh, first rate," says he; "only I have got such an infernal hankering after grass

EFFECT OF THE WEATHER ON MOBS.—"Spectator," the European correspondent of the Comercial Advertiser, says, in speaking of the chances of commotion in the French capital:—

"Hitherto the weather has been highly favorable to the preservation of peace; for the rain has been incessant, and the barometer exceedingly low. Statistical observations go to show that crimes of violence are far more common when the barometer is high than when depressed. It will be interesting to observe whether any change that may now take place will show its effects in this way on the Parisian organs of destructiveness."

THE DAILY NEWS.

Newport:

THURSDAY APRIL 27, 1848.

BY O. F. JACKSON, 81-THAMES-ST.

☞Advertisers will please bear in mind that the circulation of the DAILY NEWS is more than DOUBLE that of the Daily Herald, and greater than the combined circulation of the Daily and Weekly Herald. As one proof of this fact, the list of Letters remaining in the Post-Office is advertised in the NEWS, as BY LAW REQUIRED.

THE TREATY AND THE MEXICAN CONGRESS.—During the week ending the 1st inst., there were 56 Deputies and 19 Senators present at Queretaro. The Monitor says it required only 15 more Deputies and 3 Senators to form a quorum to proceed to business; but we regret to say that some members of Congress had left Queretaro under the pretence of reluctance to vote for the treaty. From the very earnest and indignant manner in which the Star mentions this subject we infer that the gravest apprehensions are entertained lest a sufficient number of factious Deputies should withdraw to prevent a quorum from assembling. Opinions are very various as to the probable ratification of the treaty. The Star is urging upon the Mexicans the absolute necessity of giving it their sanction if they would preserve their nationality. As the probable action of the Mexican Congress is just now engrossing much attention, we give from the American Star of the 4th inst. a leading article on the subject.

"The treaty having been adopted by the constitutional authorities of the United States, it is now Mexico's turn to show her hand on this important matter. All eyes are, and will continue to be directed towards Queretaro, to await the action of the Mexican Congress. We sincerely hope that the friends of peace will have no reason for disappointment. We cannot believe that they will. As we remarked in a recent article, it is more for the interest of Mexico than of the United States that a treaty of peace should be ratified and she should not make the very slight modifications said to have been made by the American Senate, any ground for its rejection. These modifications are, on the whole, rather unimportant, and affect other parties—mainly individuals—more than her. We trust, therefore, that the treaty, as it has come from the United States, will be promptly ratified, and thus put an end to hostilites between the two countries. The interests of humanity, no less than those of the republic demand this. Let those invested with the sovereignty and legislative powers of the nation think well of this.

At our last advices from Queretaro, there was a prospect of a speedy reunion of the Mexican Congress. But a few more deputies are required to form a quorum, and now that a treaty is ratified, by the government to whom it was sent, we think this fact will be an additional inducement for the deputies and senators to come together. It does not yet appear whether a commissioner or commissioners from the United States will take the treaty to Queretaro, but the moment it shall be officially announced to the Supreme Government, we shall look for a quorum in Congress. We will not believe we can be disappointed in this expectation. In this event the treaty will be immediately communicated to the deputies and senators by the President of the republic, who will probably accompany its transmission with an executive message.—Discussion will follow, and the decision to which the members may arrive, will be one of transcendant importance to the republic of Mexico. No question of deeper import has been submitted to her since her Independence. It will not do to blink at it, or avoid meeting it, by refusing to attend at Queretaro. It must be met, and met too, by men—by legislators, who have a just idea of the responsibility which rests upon them. God grant a prosperous issue."

☞We learn from a slip from the New London News office, of the arrival at that port, on the 24th, of the ship Atlantic, with 5550 bbls. of oil, 50 of which is sperm; and 23,000 lbs. of whale bone. This is probably the largest cargo of oil and bone ever brought into the United States in one ship.

The Atlantic reports the ship Mechanic, Potter, of this port, at Honolulu, November 6th, with 170 bbls. sperm oil; and at the same port, on the 11th, ship Martha, Gifford, of this port, 800 bbls. sperm. Both to cruise.

ROUTES SOUTH AND WEST—For the accommodation of those of our readers who have occasion to travel, we copy the following from the Boston Evening Traveller:

The facilities for travelling South and West are increasing very rapidly; and even now there is an election between quite a number of routes. If we wish to go to New Orleans, we can take a packet from Boston or New York; and soon there is to be a line of steamers from the latter port to the Crescent City. Perhaps we have no fancy for doubling Cape Sable, but we wish to go as far as Charleston or Savannah by water. In that event, we can take either the steamer Northernor or the Southerner at New York, any week we please, and reach Charleston in about two days and a half; or we can engage a passage in a sailing vessel from Boston or New York. There is no line of steamers to Savannah; but this want is to be supplied very soon. In the matter of sailing vessels for that point, there is of course no lack. Of the land route from Charleston and Savannah, we will not speak just now; but we will go back, and describe the entire land route from New York to New Orleans.

We will suppose the traveller to have reached Baltimore in safety. Here he has a choice of routes to Weldon, North Carolina. He can take the Bay route, and run down the Chesapeake in a steamboat to Portsmouth, and thence by the Roanoke railroad to Weldon, paying $8 to Weldon, or he can go by Washington City, in which case he will travel the entire distance by railroad, the through fare being $10. The Bay route is preferred by many as the easier. From Weldon he must go to Wilmington over a railroad that cannot be particularly commended, except for the multiplicity of its "snake-heads." On arriving at Wilmington, a steamboat that will remind him (by way of contrast) of what he has seen on other waters, will be in waiting to convey him to Charleston. The fare from Weldon to Charlestown is $10.

Our traveller is now at liberty to select between the Augusta route and the Savannah route. By the former he will save time, but he must travel during the night between Augusta and Griffin, and then take a stage to Opetika, Alab., 93 miles, and travel another night. By the latter he will go to Savannah in a comfortable steamer; and after a quiet night's rest, he can take the railroad to Macon, where he will spend another night; thence he will proceed to Barnesville, 40 miles, where he must enter a stage and travel about 21 hours to Opetika, passing through Columbus too early in the morning, however, to have a view of the place. From Opetika the distance is 67 miles to Montgomery.—The fare from Charleston to Montgomery via Augusta, is $26,50; via Savannah, $25.

At Montgomery a steamboat, of respectable accomodations, will carry the traveler down the Alabama to Mobile, in about 40 hours, for $8. From Mobile to New Orleans he will have the luxury of travelling in a steamboat of the most elegant description. He will land on the New Orleans side of Lake Pontchartrain in from 15 to 18 hours, possibly a little sea-sick, having paid for his passage $5. A raiload of some five miles in length will convey him to the great city of the South. The entire distance from Boston to New Orleans has been travelled in eight days by the land route. If the Sabbath is honored, however, according to the commandment, this cannot be done. And detentions from non-connecting railroads, &c. &c., are not uncommon.

But the traveller may wish to proceed to New Orleans by the way of Cincinnati.—In that event, also, he has a choice of routes. If he can wait a few weeks, he may go from Boston to Cincinnati via Albany, Buffalo, Lake Erie, Sandusky, in a little more than three days. And even now, he may leave Boston on Monday at 5 P. M., and reach Cumberland, via Baltimore, on Wednesday at 6 P. M.; and then, crossing the mountains in a stage, proceed immediately to Wheeling, 131 miles, so as to arrive there in season for the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati line of steamboats on Thursday evening, and thus reach the latter place on Saturday morning. The road across the mountains—though the great National Road—is at times, however, in a wretched condition, and a day may be lost, much to the disappointment of the traveller. On reaching Brownsville, he may take a steamboat down the Monongahela to Pittsburg, thereby shortening the stage ride 56 miles, but consuming one more day in the journey to Cincinnati. Good steamboats leave Pittsburg daily at 10 A. M.

On the route from Philadelphia to Pittsburg it is unnecessary to dwell. Those who like the slow motion of a canal boat, and are not particularly anxious to be at their journey's end, will find that a way of getting over the ground very pleasantly. There is to be a railroad at no very distant day, from Chambersburg to Pittsburg, which will present a very desirable mode of crossing the mountains.

Our traveller has now reached Cincinnati. How shall he get down the Ohio and Mississippi to New Orleans? If he will look about him, he will see that there is no lack of steamboats for New Orleans, some of them having very fine accommodations. Among them all he can probably find one or more advertised to go at the very time he wishes. But we will just whisper a word in his ears. He can never tell when one of these steamboats will start, till it is actually in motion, and he can never tell when he will reach New Orleans, till he gets there! He can take passage in any of these advertised boats, however, and have a state room assigned to him, and be sure of his board gratis, whether he leaves Cincinnati in one day or five, and that is the only thing he can be sure of.

SANTA FE.—Dates from Santa Fe to the 14th ult., have been received at St. Louis. Col. Ralls had resigned his command to Col. Lane at El Pasco on account of sickness. Capt. Haley had been ordered to Carigal, to destroy a den of horse thieves, who had stolen fifty horses. Gov. Armigo had been honorably acquitted.—Rumors of Urrea's advance were confirmed. Col. Sims, trader, had escaped to Chihuahua. The health of the troops was good.

The telegraph from St. Louis to Pittsburg gives confirmatory accounts of a battle fought at Resolia, 60 miles from Chihuahua—the Americans were victorious. The governor of Chihuahua, 14 pieces of artillery and a large number of prisoners taken by our forces. Loss in killed and wounded on both sides is represented as heavy.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES IN ALBANY.—On Monday afternoon a fire broke out in N. Stark's house, corner of Church and Westerlo streets, which spread to the row of frame houses in John street, and in three hours the entire block, bounded by Church, Westerlo, Dallis, and John streets, was burnt down, including Rev. Mr. Leahy's Methodist church; loss 35 to $40,000, on which there was considerable insurance.—At 9 o'clock on the evening of the same day another fire started in the paint shops of Mix & Thornton, 25 Green street, which destroyed 25 valuable buildings on Green and Beaver streets, with a large amount of property. The Middle Dutch church was saved with difficulty. Eli Perry was hurt by a falling wall.

WASHINGTON, APR. 22.—There have been no farther disturbances, consequent upon the slave abduction affair. Neither house is in session to-day.

☞Since the revolution in February, no books, except a few insignificant pamphlets, have been published in Paris.

Several valuable libraries have been sent from Paris to be sold in England, as their owners are anxious to realise all their disposable property.

RAISING THE WIND.—A lady in Pittsburgh wanting a sum of money, sent round a subscription list for a widow who had lost her two sons in Mexico. In two wards she raised the sum of $26,36 in one afternoon.

A GOOD LAW.—In Buffalo a man is fined twenty-five dollars if he erects a building without setting out shade trees in front of it.

☞By the late fires in Washington, the government has lost the valuable maps and caculations connected with the North Eastern Boundry Survey.

☞The fourth Monday in May, the 22d, is the day for the meeting of the democratic national convention in Baltimore.

☞The German ladies of Cincinnati are preparing a beautiful standard, comprising the American and German flags, which is to be presented to the first State of the German confederacy which shall declare for a Republic. Those concerned in this movement have raised among themselves $250.

☞A vessel cleared at Boston on Monday for Rotterdam, with about thirty-two thousand gallons of honey, eighty-two thousand pounds of lard, ninety-five thousand pounds of logwood, seventeen thousand feet of mahogony, seventeen thousand gallons of whale oil, and twenty thousand pounds of tobacco.

THE BOUNDARY.—In the Massachusetts Senate, April 24th,—

Mr. Wentworth, from the Joint Special Committee on the subject of the Boundary Line between Massachusetts and Rhode Island, made a report adverse to that of the Commissioners, which was laid on the table and 2000 copies ordered to be printed.

☞Do not complain of another for not keeping your secret till you have first complained of yourself. How can you imagine a stranger to be more faithful to you than you are to yourself? We have no reason to hope that others will keep that which ourselves first abandoned.

JONE'S SOAP.

Ladies in the country and watering places,
See how the sun has burnt your faces!

If Jone's Soap you'd use; come once—do try—
It costs but fifty cents, and I am told
It's worth, aye, doubly worth, its weight in gold.

Phalon's Chemical Hair Invigorator.

A REMEDY for all diseases of the Hair, and is restorative in all cases where baldness is not beyond the reach of art.

Naught with beauty can compare,
With soft, glossy locks of hair;
If not endowed with such by nature,
Use Phalon's Hair Invigorator.

The subscriber having devoted a considerable portion of his time for twenty years to the study of the skin and the human hair, also the best means of treating and curing the same, and having, in the course of his experiments made various changes and improvements in the different articles approved as the best for such purposes, has at length, after laborious reserch and deep investigation, succeeded in bringing to perfection a composition, the virtues of which he challenges the world to excel.

The Chemical Hair Invigorator is composed of a number of vegetable ingredients of opposite qualities, and approved by the highest medical standard, the secret of blending and combining, which is known only to the subscriber, who has spared neither pains nor expense in bringing it before the public.

The Invigorator is an article in which a cleansing and purifying wash is beautifully blended with a most delicate, silky and glossy moisture of the hair never before attained, yet free from animal grease or essential oils. It cleanses the pores of the skin, causes a healthy action of the blood vessels, nerves, &c., which free the hair, thereby preventing baldness and gray hair, entirely frees the skin from scurf, dandruff and other cutaneous diseases, disposes the hair to curl, and keeps it so—will positively change the hardest hair into the most soft and healthy and glossy state, also imparts to it a darker color, and a free use of it will keep both the skin and hair in a healthy and luxuriant state until the last period of life.

Ladies will find the Invigorator a great addition to the toilet, both on recount of its delicate and agreeable perfume, and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which when moistened with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form, so as to preserve its place whether plain or in curls. When used on childrens heads it lays the foundation of a good head of hair.

Invented and prepared by EDWARD PHALON, professor of Wig Making and Hair Cutting, 61 Broadway, New York.

A treatment on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Hair, with directions for preventing baldness, removing dandruff and preserving the natural beauty and softness of the hair.

Price 50 cents per bottle—large size, $1. For sale wholesale and retail by GORTON ANDERSON, No. 151 Thames-street, Newport, and by J. Balch & Son, 42 South Main-street, Providence, and by druggists and hair dressers generally in Boston. nov 16-1yis

Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co.

OFFICE No. 21 Wall-st., (N. Y.)

Advantages secured by the System of Life Insurance now in successful operation in this company.

1st. Those in good health, of the proper age, and of sound constitution, will be insured at the lowest rate of premiums.

2d. The premium, if over $30, can be paid one-fourth in cash, and three-fourths in a secured note at 12 months, bearing 6 per cent interest, and subject to assessments if required, or it may be paid weekly, monthly, or quarterly.

3d. Annual division of profits in scrip certificates which bear 6 per cent interest, and if required, a loan of two-thirds on the scrip will be made in cash—or the profits can be added to increase the sum insured.

4th. No persons are liable beyond the amount of their premiums.

5th. Married women may insure the lives of their husbands, secure from any demands of their creditors, if the premium does not exceed $300 per annum.

6th. Creditors may insure their debtors; or debtors themselves, for the protection of creditors.

7th. An insurance can be made so that the sum insured will be paid on attaining a specified age, or sooner in the event of death.

8th. All claims on policies will be paid three months after notice and proof of death.

9th. No risk will be taken on any one life exceeding $5000, until the surplus profits amount to $50,000; then the amount of risk on a single life will be gradually extended as the funds of the Company augment.

10th. No Director or Officer can obtain a loan of the Company.

11th. When the net profits of the Company amount to $200,000, the excess will be applied towards the redemption of Scrip, giving priority to that first issued: but the amount of $200,000, in addition to the reinsurance fund, will be kept as a permanent fund, in which the members have a pro rata interest.

12th. The funds of the Company to be invested by the Finance Committee in bonds and first mortgages on unencumbered real estate, the actual value of which is twice the amount loaned—or in stocks of the United States, or of the States of N. York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Maine, or loaned to members on their Scrip.

13th. No part of the profits is withheld, or diverted from the assured in any way.

14th. There is no stock or loan, either nominal or real, to pay interest for; the company having ample capital in the premiums received.

15th. It enables a man to provide for a wife and children, in such a way, that although he may lose all, they are safe; and all persons, whether married or unmarried, to provide for old age, sickness, and want, as well as for death.

16th. It does not reckon the assured a year older than he is—but from six months less, to six months more, so as to equalize the same between all parties.

17th. It pays no directors, auditors, or solicitors.

18th. A portion of the directors and the officers are chosen yearly, and the members vote according to interest.

19th. The assured can surrender the policy at any time after a term of years, and receive its equitable value.

20th. Every precaution is taken to prevent a forfeiture of policy.

The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, is authorized by its charter to make all and every Insurance appertaining to or connected with Life risks, of whatsoever kind or nature, and will grant annuities and make endowments, as by the Act of Incorporation, passed the 30th January, 1845.

The Directors of this Company, deeply impressed with the very great, useful, and growing importance to the community at large of Life Insurance, would call the attention of the public to the following observations and principles, as intended to explain to them its peculiar advantages, and the particular features of this valuable institution. It is seen above how extensive the privileges are; reaching to every risk appertaining to or connected with life; guarding and supporting infancy to old age, in all grades of professions and trades; orphans, widows and their children, by a small annual investment, on the principle of Mutual Benefits, arising from Mutual Insurance, being a self-protective society. In this there is no Money Stock; the funds or capital arise from premiums paid in when persons make insurance, and these form the means to make payments on policies, grant loans, pay expenses, and yield profits. All persons insured become members, but are not liable beyond the amount of the premiums to be paid by them. The books of the company are open to them, to see that the sums paid, or securities received, are deposited or invested according to the charter, and the nett profits, at fixed periods, are divided among them, as hereafter explained. The table of figures, and the rules, are made and calculated with accuracy, after the experience and practice of old English companies, and all persons can see by them how much they have to pay, and the gains they will be likely to receive. This plan partakes of the Savings Bank and Mutual Interests, affording the security of the one, and gain of the other, and is entirely benevolent in its operations; it also embraces a provision for Married Women to insure the lives of their husbands for any amount, the premium of which shall not exceed $300 per annum, and is secured to them against any demands in law, of creditors.

The greatest portion of society, who by daily exertions of industry earn support, as artisans and mechanics, deriving livelihood from personal labor and skill, seldom resort to Life Insurance, in any numbers, for a future provision for their families, though to none would it be so important as to them, who, by sickness and death, may in a day, leave those nearest and dearest to them in poverty. To men in mercantile pursuits and those in professional business of every rank and class, or those who have uncertain or small incomes, and who are most numerous in wealth in the aggregate and have it in their power to provide against the vicissitudes they are constantly exposed to, Life Insurance is also of the utmost importance; they, and those in lower circumstances, are often deterred from entering into contracts of insurance, as the advantages appear remote—being contingent on death, or ability to pay the premiums.

To assist all such, this Mutual Benefit society so arranges the payment of the premiums, and of returns in part of the same, as to enable all persons to become members, and enjoy its advantages while living; thus protecting themselves in life, and providing for their families after their death; in this way a short life may obtain, and leave to heirs the benefit of a long one.

This Company will grant insurances on lives, on the Mutual principle, to applicants upon their own lives, or the lives of others, for the whole duration of life, or for a limited period, at the rates specified in the tables, for sound and healthy persons.—Also, any person in sound health may insure $500 for life upon his own or his wife's life, or the wife upon the life of her husband, of the age of thirty years, (and in like proportion for other ages,) by paying 25 cents weekly, or on $1000 by paying 50 cents weekly, the policy always remaining with the Company, with the premiums paid endorsed thereon; and in case of death they will be entitled to the amount thus insured, deducting therefrom the balance remaining of weekly payments, with interest, for the current year. No risk will be taken on a single life for more than $5,000, until the profits of the Company amount to $50,000, after which, according to the profits, the amount will be gradually extended to a sum not exceeding $15,000.

The better to enable all persons to insure, the Company will annually issue Scrip certificates, of estimated profits, bearing interest at 6 per cent.—Whenever the accumulation of nett profits of the Company shall exceed the sum of $200,000, the excess may be applied from year to year, or semi-annually thereafter, towards the redemption of each year's certificates of scrip, in whole or in part, as may be determined on by the Board of directors, priority to be given to the scrip first issued. The insured may borrow from the Company on his scrip, two thirds of the amount of the same at any time, which will enable him to use a portion of his profits for the payment of his annual premium, even before the redemption of the scrip. All classes of persons will thus be admitted and enabled to meet the premiums, and have the gain of the Savings Bank, with the profit on a large business, by an actual small investment or outlay of money.

All claims for insurance will be paid three months after satisfactory evidence of the death of the persons deceased is exhibited and approved.

Should it any time be desirable for a person to sell his policy, where it is for life, the Company will purchase the same at an equitable rate.

Parties insured at the table rates of premiums, are not to pass south of the Southern line of Virginia and Kentucky, or east of the Mississippi River, between the first day of June and first day of November; but can visit any part of the United States or Northern British Provinces, between the first of November and first of June. By the payment of an extra premium, insurances can be effected by persons who desire to reside South during the interdicted time.

All persons whose lives are insured by this company, are permitted to travel on any of the regular mail routes, (within the limits prescribed in the policy) or on any of the Northern or Upper Lakes, by steamboat or other common mode of conveyance.

Extra hazardous risks will be taken on persons going out or residing out of the limits of the policy, and embracing all parts of the world; also on all persons going to sea, and such other risks as may be specially agreed for, being more hazardous, to be expressed in their policies. The extra premiums to be computed upon equitable principles.

Insurances will be made on the lives of Military and Naval Officers, off or on duty, in time of peace, the premium to be settled according to circumstances of climate, locality, &c., as they may be more or less hazardous.

What can better illustrate the wise disposition of the Supreme Being, in the varying term of human life, than the certainty of the general laws that regulate its duration, and the reflections that arise from the contemplation of these laws operating constantly upon the human race? Life Insurance then rests upon the simple fact, that every individual of the human race has, at the period of his birth, a certain term of existence, which he will live through, or what is called the mean duration, or expectation of life at birth.

It is a question how such term of existence, or mean duration, is found. This is done simply by taking the number of years that have been lived through by a party from birth to death, and also of 1000 others born at the same time, and dying at all ages from 1 to 100 years old—the number of years thus lived by each person is added into one sum and being divided by the number of persons, the mean duration of the life of man is ascertained.

If it were found on trial, that on taking the result of the lives of 1,000 or 10,000 individuals, and deducing the mean duration, and then going through the same process with like numbers, and the mean duration of the latter differed widely from the former, it would be to no purpose to follow out experiments: but this is not the fact, and in nothing is the uniformity of the general laws of nature more powerfully exemplified, than in regulating the period of human existence. The result of experience is constant, that two bodies of individuals, each of 1000, living in the same country, and of similar occupations, have each a period of mean duration, which differs only a trifle from that of the other body. Apply this to insurance on life in the same body of persons; they pay a small sum or premium, annually, and the office, or Company, agrees to pay them annually a profit, and a certain sum at the death of each; as, by example, the average expectancy of life is found by experience, to be of a person in health of 25 years, 38 years more; and of 40 years 28 years longer; then by the tables of rates, the first has to pay $20 40-100 a year during his life, to secure, $1000 to be paid to his wife or children after his death; the second pays $32, to insure the same; then taking the gain of interest, and other items, that make up the profits on Mutual Benefits, it is almost certain the amount of $1000 insured will be much increased, when in the end it is to be paid to his heirs, all which is firmly established by the facts of experience. Life Insurance, therefore, on Mutual Benefits, is not a fictitious scheme to draw people into, for money-making purposes. Such an idea, if it exists, is most incorrect, and dissolved at once by the very fact, that this is a Mutual Benefit Company, and consequently any person taking out a policy, becomes a member by a small annual payment, and has a joint interest in its concerns, and a voice in its management.—Founded on scientific principles, exemplified by experience, its real services then to all classes of persons, who are dependent on certain incomes, or salaries, professions, mechanical skill, or daily labor cannot be denied; and it has proved essentially beneficial to the families of such, in event of death, and is therefore an institution ranking among the noblest works of benevolence in the world.

Such being the equitable and beneficial principles on which Mutual Life Insurance is established, it presents a most suitable and favorable means of providing for the endeared and dependent lives of children; for what is the situation of a man, who, for the gratification of his affections, surrounds himself with a wife and children, and lives in the enjoyment of those valued blessings, and knowing that in an instant, the cessation of his life may throw them into a state of destitution! The neglect, then, of such a cheap and certain provision, is gross improvidence; for it is not mere a man's absolute duty, to provide while he lives the daily bread for his family, than it is against leaving them to suffer penniless, misery in the event of his death. It is then a religious as well as moral duty, to be easily accomplished by weekly, monthly, or yearly earnings—and this Life Insurance of Mutual Benefits, is the protection against such dreadful evils.

The observations and explanations above made on the principles of Life Insurance generally, and particularly the great and very superior advantages exhibited to the public by insuring in this Mutual Benefit Company, the credit which policies will give to men in trade, the gain it may be to all classes in their business vocations, and the duty of all to provide for their families, should induce every person to give this subject a careful consideration, remembering the injunction of Scripture, that "if any provide not for his own, and especially for them of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel."

Hyer's Pills.

The American Improved Hygeian Vegetable Medicine.

SAFE, CHEAP AND EFFECTIVE.

This medicine makes no pretensions to miraculous powers, the raising of the dead, or to immense and astounding sales daily and hourly, after the most approved method of the times; but bases all its claims upon plain common sense principles, as a simple aid to nature in restoring the human system to its proper tone and action, when by carelessness or unavoidable circumstances it has become deranged or debilitated, and asks simply a faithful trial as a test of its curative properties.—During the last twenty years it has worked its way into extensive use, wholly upon its own merits, by commendation from individual to individual, not having been advertised for more than twelve years till within the past few months—save occasionally in a journal of which the present proprietor is Editor. The increasing demand, however, has measurably compelled greater attention to its business, and agencies are now being established throughout the country.

A faithful trial of a half dollar or dollar package is almost certain to secure use in every family where it is introduced, where medicine is needed. The undersigned has used it in his own family for more than fifteen years—has knowledge of its approved use in many others, (for periods varying from months to fifteen or sixteen years,) as their only medicine, and knows it to be valuable in most of the complaints incident to the human system. But a long or extravagant commendation is not designed or needed here. Ten thousand more assertions in its favor will not make it valuable, or satisfy reasonable persons without a trial; for the proof, after all, must lie in the use of it. Try it, then. Read, try, and then judge.

THE subscriber has just completed the invention of a new Cooking Range, to which he invites the attention of the public. This Range possesses qualities for expeditious boiling and cooking that other Ranges do not, and it occupies but a small space of room.

Brownell's Cooking Range has six eight inch boilers, any two, or four of which, can be thrown into one, so as to admit of a large boiler; and it is provided with a set of rings so that any size furniture can be used on it. Its Oven is large, convenient of access, and having an upward draft, it bakes evenly with a small quantity of fuel.

One of these Ranges is in successful operation at the store of the subscriber, subject to the examination of the public, who are invited to call and take a look at it. WILLIAM BROWNELL.

Coggeshall & Bliss' Patent Cooking Range.

THE subscriber has just taken out letters patent for a new and beautiful cooking Range, to which they invite the attention of the public.

This Range may be set in the ordinary fire place, and by a simple, though effectual apparatus, the throat of the chimney may in an instant of time be opened or closed, so that the heat in summer and the fumes from cooking at all times may escape through the chimney.

Wood or coal may be used, and the evil of smoking chimneys is completely remedied by its introduction.

This Range is so constricted that it takes up but a small space, and yet it contains all the qualities of those which take up double the amount; and it being constructed as it is, the Boilers are brought in close proximity with the fire, and it consequently boils much sooner, and with a smaller amount of fuel, than the old fashioned Ranges, or cook stoves. It contains five boilers, four of which may be converted into two, by taking out a cross piece and thus will admit of two large boilers at the same time. It also contains and Oven 12 inches wide by 21 deep, which cannot be surpassed for baking.

The subscriber has one of these Ranges in operation at his store, where the public are invited to call and examine it, and if they will, they must at once discover its utility. He also keeps constantly on hand all kinds of Parlor, Office, and Cook Stoves, Tin Ware, &c., &c.
